INDEPENDENT THINKING EXERCISE (2015 - 16)

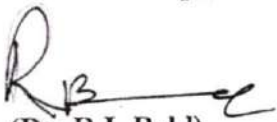

SACCM, in order to enable students in having independent opinion about various economic, political, social and ethical issues, carries out a unique activity called 'Independent Thinking Exercise'. For those students who are not aware of the procedure followed for the activity, following section discusses the modus operandi of the same.

Modus Operandi for Independent Thinking Exercise:

- The exercise is performed with a competitive stride. In total, sessions at five competitive successive levels are conducted. Filtering and shortlisting is done at each level and eventually, three 'Best Independent Thinkers' are selected and given prizes during Annual Prize Distribution function. Evaluation is based on factors like number of valid points, clarity and conviction of the thought expressed, facts and real life examples given to support the point of view.
- The emphasis is on motivating and developing students to think independently and express their opinion/views. Students who are not eloquent orators or may be not very good at English can also participate. Language becomes no bar. Students may express their opinion in English, Hindi or Punjabi.
- Topic for discussion is announced ten days prior to the session. There are two rounds in each session. First round is of individual presentation of three minutes followed by structured Group Discussion. There will be two rounds of group discussion, whereby each participant will get one minute in each round to contradict any point expressed by other participants or justify one's own viewpoint.
- Sessions are conducted at 2:15 pm since by that time lectures are all over.

Interested students must give their names to their respective class incharges by 11th August, 2015.

For further queries contact Dr. Leenu Narang (Coördinator) of the activity.

For the current academic year, the first session of ITE was held with 50 students who were filtered in the subsequent sessions. The students were evaluated on the basis of Originality, Logic and Conviction with which they put forth their views. After being shortlisted in the preliminary round, students strived to clinch the title of best Independent Thinkers by passing through five successive levels of increasing difficulty with details as follows:

Level	ITE topics	Date

On 16th-feb-2016 the Grand – Finale of Independent thinking activity was held and the students namely Gurkirat Singh of BBA III, Raghav Aneja of B.ComI and Danish Kapoor of B.comI were adjudged the best Independent Thinkers.

INDEPENDENT THINKING EXERCISE

Great inventions and innovations are the outcomes of a 'thought'. Thinking independently is a virtue which creates an independent identity of a person. To come up with truly creative products and novel ideas, great business leaders need to be independent thinkers. Ours' being a commerce college is responsibly putting best of its efforts to holistically develop and constructively channelize the energy of commerce and management students. To enable students in having independent opinion about various economic, political, social and ethical issues, Independent thinking exercise is carried out by the college. Independent thinking exercise is aimed at enabling the students to make and trust their own judgment instead of just depending on others opinions and judgment; even if they contradict to what others say. This in no means indicate that students should become adamant but this exercise help students to analyze the issue from different perspectives and then make up their mind. This exercise intellectually stimulates the students and they develop a rational approach to form an opinion on many current issues.

In the year 2007, Independent Thinking Exercise (brainchild of Shri S.P. Oswal) was introduced. In each class, students were divided into small groups and each group used to discuss a current or a socially/politically/ethically relevant topic with the other group members under the guidance of a facilitating faculty member. The students were supposed to express their own opinions with conviction based upon their own knowledge, judgment and experience rather than depending upon the opinions of others. Out of each group, one best student was selected and then a final round of these students was conducted. From amongst these finalists, one student was adjudged to be the 'Best Independent Thinker'. The said exercise was completely revamped in the year 2013 to carry it out in a true competitive format so as to infuse drive among students. In the present system, firstly, from all the classes, only those students who are willing to participate get into the contest of independent thinking. Out of this pool, filtering of students is being done at each level by way of Individual Presentations (on a particular topic) in the first stage followed by Group Discussion (on the same topic). In total five successive levels of this exercise is organized. With each passing level, the topics become more difficult and finally, three 'Best Independent Thinkers' are selected.

Modus Operandi for the activity followed at SACCM:

- A minimum of two students are selected from each section of BCOM and BBA (first, second and third year) for the first session of the exercise. Taking into consideration the zest and level of participation of students during routine lectures, class incharges shortlist a few students for the activity.
- The exercise is performed with a competitive stride. In total, five competitive sessions on different topics are conducted. Feeling of competition injects vigour among students. From the first level itself, filtering is done at each level and eventually, three, 'Best Independent Thinkers' are selected and given prizes during Annual Prize Distribution function. Evaluation is based on factors like clarity and conviction of the thought expressed, number of valid points, facts and real life examples given to support the point of view.
- The emphasis is on motivating and developing students to think independently and express their opinion/views. Students who are not eloquent orators or may be not very good at English can also participate because the objective is to encourage them to develop their individual thought and to have the capability to express it. Hence, language becomes no bar.
- Topic for discussion is announced ten days prior to session so that the students come prepared. Topic of the first session is basic and general in nature such that students find it easy to relate to the topic somehow and hence, they can easily participate and learn to frame and express their thinking. Gradually, difficulty level of topics is raised. Teacher facilitators act as observers.
- Sessions are conducted at 2:15 pm since by that time lectures are all over. There are two rounds in each session. First round is of individual presentation of three minutes followed by structured Group Discussion.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT THINKING EXERCISE (2018-19)

Thinking independently is a virtue which creates an independent identity of a person. Our college is responsibly putting best of its efforts to holistically develop and constructively channelize the energy of students. To enable students in having independent opinion about various economic, political, social and ethical issues, Independent thinking exercise is carried out by the college. Independent thinking exercise is aimed at enabling the students to make and trust their own judgment instead of just depending on others' opinions and judgment; even if they contradict to what others say. This in no means indicate that students should become adamant and not remain open but they should develop the capacity to analyze the issue from different perspectives and then make up their mind. This exercise intellectually stimulates the students and they develop a rational approach to form an opinion on various issues. During the current year, a preliminary round and subsequent five sessions of the exercise were organized. The preliminary round was conducted on 30th August, 2018 on the topic 'Who is a responsible Indian?'. Following are the details of five sessions of the activity:

Level	Topic	Number of students	Dates
I	Increasing competition among students: healthy or heavy?	44	19 th September, 2018
II	Growing craze to go abroad: necessity or herding?	34	1 st November, 2018
III	Net Neutrality	23	16 th January, 2019
IV	Scenario of health care sector in India.	12	6 th February, 2019
V	E-Commerce in India: What's the trending debate?	6	5 th March, 2019

The activity not only promoted independent thinking but also provided a platform for expression of the thoughts. In order to motivate students to give their best every time, their scores of each level were considered for the final result. On 5th March, 2019 the Grand – Finale of Independent Thinking Exercise was held. Panel of judges comprised of Dr. Leenu Narang and Prof. Sahil Ghai. Three best performers who could cross six levels of increasing difficulty were adjudged as 'Best Independent Thinkers' namely: Sneha Gupta, Sherril Arora and Aashna Jain. A unique activity called 'Independent Thinking Exercise' is carried out by SACCM in order to enable its students to form and express their independent opinion on different topics. For those students who are not aware of the procedure followed for the activity, following section discusses the modus operandi of the same.

Modus Operandi for Independent Thinking Exercise:

- The exercise is performed with a competitive stride. In total, sessions at five competitive successive levels are conducted in addition to a preliminary round. Filtering and shortlisting is done at each level and eventually, three 'Best Independent Thinkers' are selected and given prizes during Annual Prize Distribution function. Evaluation is based on factors like number of points, logic (viz. facts, examples etc. given to support the point of view) and conviction.
- The emphasis is on motivating and developing students to think independently and express their opinion/views. Language becomes no bar. Students may express their opinion in English or/and Hindi or/and Punjabi.
- There are two rounds in each session. First round is of individual presentation of three minutes followed by Structured Group Discussion. There will be two rounds of group discussion, whereby each participant will get one minute in each round to supplement his perspective, contradict any point expressed by other participants or justify one's own viewpoint.
- In order to encourage full preparation every time, scores obtained at every level will be considered for the eventual victory.
- Sessions are generally conducted at 2:15 pm. Topic for discussion and other details are announced a few days prior to session so that the students come prepared. Information related to date, topic, etc. is put up on the notice board. Hence, students are advised to see that regularly.

A NOTE ON MODEL UNITED NATIONS (MUN)

INTRODUCTION

Model United Nations or MUN is an educational simulation of the United Nations where students assume the roles of diplomats and engage in debate on pertinent topics. Students get an opportunity to learn about diplomacy, international relations, and the United Nations. It involves researching, public speaking, debating and writing skills and above all critical thinking. Participants in MUN conferences, known as delegates, are placed in committees and assigned countries, or occasionally other organizations or political figures, where they represent members of that body. They are presented with their assignments in advance, along with a topic or topics that their committee will discuss. Delegates conduct research before conferences and formulate positions that they will then debate with their fellow delegates in the committee, staying true to the actual position of the member they represent. At the end of a conference, the best-performing delegates in each committee, as well as delegations, are awarded.

PROCEDURE

MUNs are run by a group of administrators known as the dais. A dais is headed by a Secretary-General. Each committee usually has a chair (also known as moderator), a member of the dais that enforces the rules of procedure. A delegate may request the committee as a whole to perform a particular action known as a motion. Documents aiming to address the issue of the committee are known as resolutions and are voted for ratification. MUN committees can be divided into three general sessions: formal debate, moderated caucus, and unmoderated caucus.

- In a formal debate, the Chair maintains a list of speakers and the delegates follow the order written on the 'speaker list'. Speakers may be added to the speaker list by raising their placard or sending a note to the chair. During this time, delegates talk to the entire committee. They make speeches, answer questions, and debate on resolutions and amendments.
- In a moderated caucus, the committee goes into a recess and the rules of procedure are suspended. Anyone may speak if recognized by the chair. A vote on a motion is necessary to go into a moderated caucus. There is a comparatively shorter time limit per speech.
- In an unmoderated caucus, the delegates informally meet with other delegates and the staff for discussions.

AWARD POLICY

1. Committee-wise awards are awarded by the respective Executive Boards and their decision is final.
2. Three awards are given per committee namely:
 - Best Delegate equivalent to First Prize of any Inter College event
 - High Commendation equivalent to Second Prize of any Inter College event
 - Special Mention equivalent to Third Prize of any Inter College event
 - Verbal Mention equivalent to Consolation Prize of any Inter College event

REPORT
PARTICIPATION IN INTER COLLEGE MODEL UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE

Model United Nations or MUN is an educational simulation of the United Nations where students assume the roles of diplomats and engage in debate on pertinent topics. Students get an opportunity to learn about diplomacy, international relations, and the United Nations. It involves researching, public speaking, debating and writing skills and above all critical thinking. Participants in MUN conferences, known as delegates, are placed in committees and assigned countries, or occasionally other organizations or political figures, where they represent members of that body. They are presented with their assignments in advance, along with a topic or topics that their committee will discuss. Delegates conduct research before conferences and formulate positions that they will then debate with their fellow delegates in the committee, staying true to the actual position of the member they represent. Following students participated in the event.
